What is Timeshare?

Traditional timeshare resorts in New Zealand are unit titled properties where the ownership of individual units has been split into 1 week increments which have been purchased by families who wish to own their holiday accommodation without the high cost of purchasing an entire holiday home or holiday apartment.

In addition to staying at their own resort, owners also have access to holidays around the world via a world-wide network of some 5000 other timeshare resorts.

Timeshare Ownership Opportunities
